John Paul at Saratoga.

HE TELLS MANY AMUSING ADVENTURES. [Correspondence of the Tribune.] SARATOGA, August 20 .- Away from bome again! Not at all. Swatoga is "home," in the sweetest sense of the word. At least, "tis " the dearest spot on earth to me," and I always accept popular definitions.

"Board bills will be paid weekly" is one of the pleasant legends written on the "notice to guests," which I find pasted on the door of my room. Who will pay them is not explained with exactly the accuracy that would be gratifying to one of my precise and mathematical habits, but as the broad fact is plamis stated, I shall give myself no trouble about unimportant details. And as I intend to leave before the seven days are up. I suppose it doesn't matter much, for R follows, of course, that in such case no one will have to pay anything.

The waiters tell me that they suffer in con sequence of the general stagnation of basiness. Taken all in all, I do not really suppose that I have distributed more than a thousand deliars this season among the faith-In attendants who forget to black my boots at night, never bring ice-water to the room, and siways inform me that the last Spanish mackerel was broiled just a minute or two before my family entered the dining-room. But, thank heaven, " Peruvian woedcock on toast" is always obtainable, and on ordering cold pork and beaus.

I have seen but one four-in-band here this season, and personally, have not held more than a pair—"fushes" do not seem to be in order!

It may be the fault is mine; it may be that in any old age I am becoming mi-anthropic, that in reality there is quite as much sparkle in Congress water as ever, and that 'tis in the crystal stream of thought has been transmuted into tears! Dyspepsia may be at the bottom of it, for of late 1: find that I cannot cat more than a watermelon or two, a coufit the morbid sinner almost as much as a change of heart.

The ladies of the bouse gave Professor Manuel a "Complimentary Testimonial"— that is to say, a benefit ball. Well, I attended the affair with my family-accepted six on an average twice as long as without it "complimentary" tickets, I think, which while to passengers it is a perfect insurance against a class of accidents which have caused was the proper thing to do, it being a "Comgreater losses of life perhaps than any other plimentary Testimonial." Paulina, in addition to wanting to dance, you see, had a new sash to exhibit, so we all agreed to gothough instead of a sash to show I had only a pain in my side-in my inside, if the truth may be spoken-to fall back on.

In the wild whirl of one of the waltzes I noticed that Paulina stooped and picked up stranger in tones of astonishment. something, and when the dance was done she brought me a handkerchief which she had found on the floor.

"Paulina," said I, severely, "you should never pick up a handkerchief which does not belong to you, especially if it be soiled as this one is. In this world of sin and wickedness, where one doesn't know exactly where he stands till the ground slips from under him, and he finds himself sliding down hill on the back of his head instead of walking uprightly off on his ear, each individual has quite enough dirty linen of his or her own to wash without bothering with that of others, and I do not purpose to go into the mutual laundry business," All the while that this speech was going on Paulina, with innocent, childish curiosity, had been untying a knot which was in the handkerchief; this done, lo and behold, three rings were oisplayed to view-diamonds, every one of them!

"Paulina," said I, "my words were the words of toolishness and inexperience. On mature reflection I say to you, go through the world with your eyes open, and pick up all the soiled handkerchiefs which you may find lying round loose, especially if there be knots in them; for lo, they may contain diamond rings within!"

And in my own heart I resolved to pick up no plain gold rings in the future. For once on a time I did pick up one to my sorrow, as all who know the present Mrs. Paul will bear me mournful witness!

It seemed impossible that I could not find the owner of those rings, but it was a difficult thing to do. I inquired all round, and no one had lost any rings or knew of any one else that had. So in the innocence of my heart I confided the secret of my find to Mr. Breslin. He was kind enough to examine them and take a mental memorandum of the number and size of the stones, and the inscriptions inside, and in a few minutes returned to say that he bad found the fair owner. He went on to describe them so accurately that I gave them out of my possession without a thought or a suspicion. But now I am haunted by the belief that he will be wearing them himself to metropolitan balls this winter. For he is still wearing on his feet the shoes which I lest at Congress Hall when he was at the head of the Found and Lost Department, some five years ago.

There was some very fine dressing at the ball last evening. One old gentleman bad his hair fluted, and a finer effect, let me say, is seldom produced at less expense. A lady attracted considerable attention day having her dress cut down in the back with a libe rality which astonished me and delighted the backbiters on the back piazza. Twas not the pompadour style exactly, rather more on the Barndour order of aschitecture, & should say; and nothing could be in better taste if a lady's back were a boulevard-but if not, not. My daughter wore an elegant lace dress, cut on a bias, and gored in one er two places by a cow which got at the clother-lines in June. She had a sash gracefully wound round her body in several different directions, a sash in which all the colors of the rainbow were beautifully blended, and the effect in combination with her blue boots was very fine indeed.

I wore a claw-hammer coat, one tail of which had been eaten off by the moths, but as I always had a feeling of being whittled as I always had a feeling of being whittled down when I put it on, it did not matter much to me, besides it was cooler the way the moths fixed it. My crayat was white, my gloves were a deficate layender—and had only been worn to a few Arcadian Club receptions before. My pantalcons were black, and my vest—inside of E. L. VAN LEW, Postmaster. my shoes were black, and my vest-inside of which I wore seven glasses of Congress water-was black. My eyes, also, wer black, through sparring with the electric bell-knobs of the Grand Union Hotel, no one of which is in working order! And my face, also, was black with shouting for chambermalds to fill the pitchers, and yelling down the speaking-tube, at the other end of the hall, in vain endeavors to get a pitcher o ice-water brought to the room occasionally So, black being the only wear, it is no strange that I take a somber view of things JOHN PAUL.

WHAT THE MENNONITES BELIEVE .- "The Mennonites are a sect of Anabaptists, driven by persecution to [or from?] Russia. They believe that the New Testament is the only rule of faith; that the Father, Son and Holv Ghost are distinct; that the first men were not created just; that there is no original sin; that Christ was not born of the flesh; that it is not lawful for Christians to swear or exercise any office of magistracy, nor use the sword to punish evil-doers, nor to wage Ba war on any terms; that a Christian may attain to the height of perfection in this life: that ministers of the gospel should receive no salary; that children are not to be taptized, and that the souls of men after death rest in an unknown place."—Baltimore Sun.

A NEW WAY OF KILLING DOGS .- The hun- Gir dred and seventy dogs that were killed in Row York yesterday were confined in an He fron cage on wheels, moving on a track down an inclined plane, and this was launched in the East river. The contrivance cost the elty about $1,000, and Captain Marriott has sent in $1,000 from the "redemption fund." Brooklyn Argus.

[Nora Perry, in Scribner's for September.] ANTICIPATION. "I'll take the orenard path," she said, becking lowly, smiling slowly. The brook was cried within its bed, The hot sun flung a flame of red Low in the west, as forth she sped.

Acress the dried brook course she went, Singing lowly, smiling slowly, the scarcety saw the sun that spent It's flery force in swift descent—

The grasses parched, the blossoms dried; Singing lowly, smiling slowly, Her eres amidst the drought espled A summer pleasance far and wide, With roses and sweet violets pied.

DISAPPOINTMENT. But homeward coming all the way, Sighling lowly, pacing slowly. She knew the bent wheat withering lay, She saw the blossoms dry decay. She missed the little brooklet's play.

A breeze sprung up from out the south, Eut, sighing lowly, pacing slowly, She only felt the burning crought; Her eyes were bot, and parched her mor. Yet sweet the wind blew from the south!

And when the wind brought welcome rain, Still sighing lowly, pacing slowly, She never saw the lifting grain, But only—a lone orchard lane, Where she had waited all in vain!

The car shoe, invented by Mr. Stillson, o Minneapolis, has lately been tested there with great success. Its design is to prevent the numerous accidents to which railroad trains are liable from one car's jumping the track. It consists of a clamp-like arrangement, which is affixed between the wheels of each truck. This runs about two inches this you are promptly served with a plate of above the rail, and if anything happens to throw the wheels from the track, the clamp at once grasps the rails, holds the car on the track, and brings the train to a halt very quickly. During one of the experiments at a curve in the read, on a down grade, a rail was removed from the track, The car having the shoe on was then started down the grade, its speed being not less than thirty-five miles an hour. On reaching the the fountain of my gloomy soul alone that gap the wheels jumped the track, the car settled down upon the shoe, which at once grasped the rail which had not been re moved, held the car in an upright position on the track, and finally brought it to a standple of troiled chickens, a slice of Learned still in a distance of 250 feet. At a second pig, and a few Bermus's potatoes and other trial, with a speed of nifteen miles an hour, Tegetables without suffering for itafterward. the same result was accomplished, the car 'Tis very hard to be a good Christian when being brought to a halt in thirty feet. Railone has a weak digestion, and I sometimes road men are especially delighted with the fancy that a change of stomach would bene- invention on account of the saving to their rolling stock which it promises. The shoe, they say, will add one-third to the strength of the truck, it being constructed of iron, and weighing about five hundred pounds. It is estimated that with this shoe a car will last

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT IN AID OF THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING AS-MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR AN EASY FORTUNE!

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT IS THE LAST

which will ever be given under this charter and by he present management. That it will positively and unequivocally take MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER, that the music will be the best the country affords, and that 20,000 CASH GIFTS, AGGREGATING

THE SUMMER IS PASSED WITH P
awful heat,
But you still have a chance to buy fuel cheap;
But where to buy you do not know,
For every one say they sell so low.
Now, I can give you a little bid,
For to buy of as me you may well be afruld;
For some are said to give light weight—
Some sell coal filled with slate,
So do not buy of any such men,
If you do you will get cheated in the end,
Now, I will tell you where to go,
And although he does not sell so mighty low,
But if you buy a ton of coal
You will gee 2.000 pounds as pure as gold;
And if you buy a cord of wood
It will be four feet long, and just as good
As can be had in this town;
Seasoned, straight, without knots, and sound.
Now, unless I tell you where to get this feel
You might go crazy, and that would be cruel;
So to keep you from getting ill
